

Chef of the day homework

Did you enjoy being the leader today?

No, not really but the experience was great. I found the position of head chef quite pressuring and I got to be in charge and help everyone on my team.

Did it give you any insights in to the responsibilities a leader experiences?

I learnt that communication and listening skills are very important in the kitchen and they are also some responsibilities as a leader.

What did you find difficult & or enjoyable about giving directions?

I found it enjoyable when I got to tell my team what to do and when they listened.

What did you feel you did well today?

When we completed the dish on time and ready to serve on the table.

What would you change in your leadership behaviour-if anything?

I would be more confident at giving out orders.

How do you feel your group reacted to your leadership?

In a positive way because I got great feedback.

How could you improve your leadership?

By being more confident.

What was your dish? Were you happy with the result of your dish? Could it have been improved? How?

Homemade potato gnocchi pan-fried with garlic, garden herbs, broad bean leaves, and lemon zest. Yes, my dish my dish turned out great and we got positive feedback. We could have added the broad bean leaves.
