

Moral Technologies - Event 7th – 10th April 2017

Orland Bishop

“The technological age of human life” with Orland Bishop

Building on the success of the 2016 Moral Technologies event with Nicanor Perlas. Spend four days delving into the theme of moral technologies with Orland Bishop, founder and director of ShadeTree Multicultural Foundation in Los Angeles, U.S.A.

Together we will explore the nature of technology, morality and the agreements that shape our relationships, our societies and our future(s). Investigate the consciousness and creativity needed to meet the challenges and opportunities in this technological age.

The event is a full immersion over four days: 7 to 10 April 2017. The venue is the Holy Cross Centre in Templestowe, Melbourne.

As well as lectures from Orland, the event will include conversations, activities and workshops to encourage a deep exploration of our relationship to technology and our inner capacity to create change as human beings. Creative ways of digesting the work will be a key component of this event. The event will feature special options for younger people.

Orland Bishop (link) combines a deep dedication to human rights advocacy and cultural renewal with an extensive study of medicine, naturopathy, psychology and indigenous cosmologies. He was a research fellow with the Centre for the Study of Violence and Social Change at Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science in Los Angeles and has consulted with many human development organisations.

The retreat centre is in beautiful grounds in the eastern suburbs of Melbourne, easily accessible by bus. Accommodation is in twin share rooms for those who stay on site. Meals will be vegetarian and we will accommodate special dietary requests.

Due to the depth of work during this event there will not be day passes available. However, Orland will present two public events:

Public lecture: 7pm, 6th April, venue: Christian Community Chapel, 319 Auburn Rd, Hawthorn, Melbourne

Public panel with Bruce McKenzie and others TBC: 7pm, 7th April at 207 Serpells Road, Templestowe VIC

All events are suitable for participants aged 15 and upwards. Choose your contribution according to your level of income. Travel support and scholarships are also available to support participants under 38 (or those in need).
