

keeping the truck of the time

I think my group did a great job at working together.

We took turns at washing and the dishes and drying and sweeping the floor.

We also did chopping. I kind of had to help them when they were running out time but we were the second one to put our dishes on the table.

I politely asked Helki and Hazel to do the dish washer and Hazel said yes. Which made my job so easy.

Dear Desley,

I think chef of the day is an amazing thing to do. It was because I had Hazel and Helki. They didn't care about the job I gave them they just did it. I would be like "Hazel can you please get the carrots and plate it and greet" and she would just say "Yes sure"

I got ready and came to kitchen if someone cut! their hands I knew exactly what to do.

What I found it difficult was getting the right jobs for Mustafa, because we weren't allowed to use the knife.
